

Train the Trainer in Clinical Audit: Virtual Accredited Course 19 March 2026

We are delighted to announce that our popular and highly rated Train the Trainer in Clinical Audit virtual course will next take place on 19 March. Learners will join us online for 7 hours to explore best practice in teaching clinical audit. The day will be fast-paced and interactive, looking at learning styles, setting lesson plans, dealing with difficult learners, running online courses and face-to-face sessions and working through our teaching resources designed to bring clinical audit to life!

What the course covers:

Making training interactive

Clinical audit training gets the best out of staff when it is interactive, engaging and fun. The course focuses on how you can teach audit methodology in a way that will interest and inspire learners.

Delivery delivery models

The post-COVID world has seen a transition away from classroom training to virtual learning. The course explores how to get the best out of both online and face-to-face 'classroom' training.

Invaluable hints and tips

The course is crammed with tips and ideas. As an example, we will look at dealing with challenging situations and advise how to manage them.

Level 2 teaching qualification

All learners are eligible to complete a post-course assignment that leads to a Level 2 teaching qualification.

CASC's Teaching Toolkit:

Updated materials

We have created FIVE new activities that will assist you in teaching clinical audit. These have been tried and tested. By attending the course you and your employer will be licensed to use the new resources.

Practical demonstrations

The training will allow learners to practice how to get the most out of the toolkit.

Online delivery

CASC's original teaching toolkit was endorsed by HQIP and focused on classroom delivery. Tasks have now been adapted for virtual training settings.
